

‘Emperor of Your Destiny’

Anuj Anand

Dedicate this book

This book is dedicated to all my friends all around the world.

I wouldn't have been able to pen down these thoughts, hadn't it been for you all, who have always stood by me in my failures, successes and above all have guided me to move on the right track, when I was going on a wrong one.

Advised me not be judgmental about anybody or anything at the first look, but to be able to view it from all the different perspective's before coming to a conclusion.

I am nothing more than a product of all your advices and help.

I owe my life to your unconditional support, love for me and your friendship.

With lots of love and thanks for being with me always.

Emperor of Your Destiny

“I have always believed that everyone in this world is a natural winner in one or more aspect. It is only when the person realizes his/her capabilities to work toward achieving success, then only his/her life move’s from the slow track to the formula -1 racing track.

Life is nothing more than an uphill journey, as you climb up the hill, you need to put extra effort, same is the case with your move towards glory.

THE ONLY THING BEING THAT ONE SHOULD ENJOY THIS JOURNEY OF HARDWORK, PATIENCE AND DETERMINATION.

Hence you are the Emperor of Your Destiny

This coffee table book is just a collection of some personal thoughts, which I feel are basic qualities one should imbibe to achieve an overall success in life.

Determination

The determination to succeed, irrespective of time taken to achieve, because in the long run, you will learn, will have acquired a lot of wisdom and knowledge, which will always be useful to you.

Mind Control

Be focused with your goals

It could be winning the heart of girl or the mind of her father. You should not become emotional, because the moment you start thinking from the heart, you will deviate, but the mind will never allow you to deviate and you will achieve your goals

Always remember the battle is won in the mind before is played on the battlefield.

Politeness

Be as polite as possible, people will always remember you by the way you had treated them, if you are courteous and polite, you will get help from unknown quarters in life

Self Believe

I firmly believe that one should have so much belief in self that it can move mountains. You should be the last person standing in all the games played in life, then only people will just look towards you for help and you can close each and every game for them on a winning note.

You might not have all the skills to win in all the game, but the self – belief that you can win, will always move you closer to winning and install a fear in the mind of the opponent that the game is going out of his/her hands, even though you may not be anywhere near to the perceived threat.

Sacrifice

The journey to success is on the path of sacrifice. Nothing comes easily; you have to give out your life to achieve it. It will not be long, when you will be sweating out the salt in your blood and the destination will not be seen, that is the stage where 99% of people in the world fail and quit.

Those who rise above this stage in life are the ones, who become the Lord of the game. That is time, when you will become “PWPTMOY”

PEOPLE WILL PUT THEIR MONEY ON YOU – because you are the sure-shot and absolute winner.

The world is always on the look out for winners not losers.

SACRIFICE

Ask the sailor meeting his son for the first time what sacrifice means.

Knowledgeable

There is no substitute to Knowledge, either you have it or you don't have it. Half Knowledge is Dangerous, since you will run out of steam soon in your pursuit to achieve success.

Hence read as much as you can, it will broaden your horizons. You shall be able to think out of the box and look at trivial issue from every angle and shall be able to come out with a rational and sound decision.

Simplicity

Being simple, down to earth is the most important thing

Because it is seen that the moment one attains success, it enters one's heart and mind, and then one's downfall becomes inevitable.

Being simple is not an easy task, because being simple means to forgive others easily for their mistakes and move on, without any hatred and grudge.

Unbreakable

The more you slog out in this out world, the more resilience you will have and slowly you will reach the stage that you will rise above every pain, failure and achieve the mental status of being the unbreakable.

This unbreakable faith in you works towards achieving your success and winning against all the odds.

Ability to Learn

Always be ready to learn and acquire new skills, nothing is enough in this world, Job's are getting more demanding and bosses are always on the look out for people who have multiple skill sets and have the capability of multitasking with a balance frame of mind.

Ability to Think

You are what more you read, the more you have the ability to think, the sooner you will develop a capability to think beyond the evitable and that will surely keep you miles ahead of others.

Listen to others

I have always felt that, whenever I was doing anything wrong, my Tara (destiny and God) always sent a warning message in the form of an advice either from my parents, friends or well wishers, that I am doing something wrong, which always helps me to move towards the right direction.

Take Criticism in the Right spirit

People will always criticize, it is their birth right, but always look at the positive side, you will become a much better person in life.

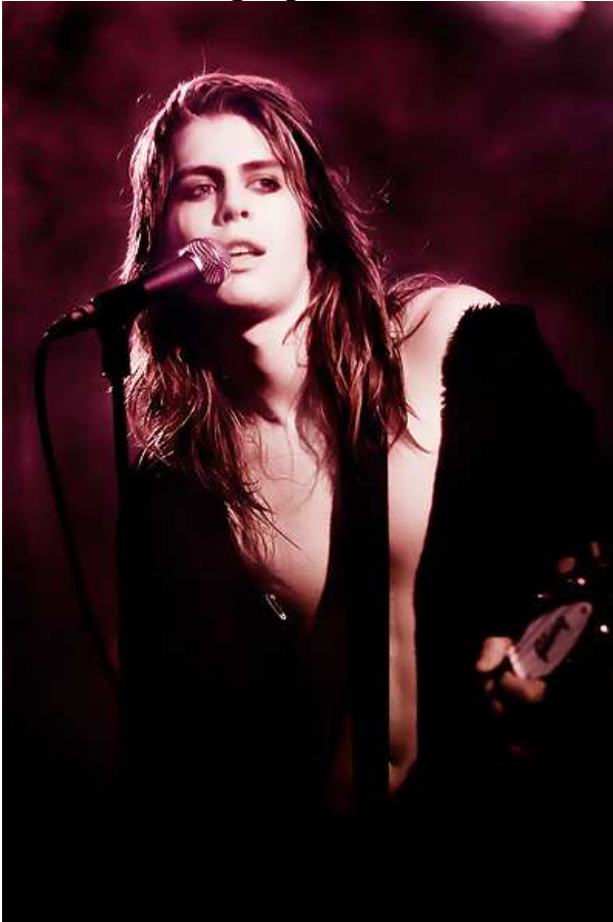

Speech

You are always known by the knowledge you have and that is reciprocated in your speech.

If you have stuff, it shows.

But it is also advisable to have a balance of knowledge and wisdom.

Since Knowledge speaks and wisdom is silent.

Writing

The flair to write effectively is really important in life. There is lot of difference between Written English and Spoken English, but how many of us are aware of this fact and are able to apply this simple basic concept in total practicality.

Passion

One must have immense passion in whatever he/she does. People start everything with passion, but run out of steam as they progress and hence the level of achievement is always different from what they had intended to achieve.

You should have such a passion in you that you just cannot take 'no' to anything that you have determined to achieve and then you will be on road to success.

The passion to fight till the last breath, as you work towards your goals and mission

Trust me, it is this passion within you, that will take you into the hall of fame and league of those extra ordinary deterministic people, for whom to be invincible to anything under the sun is a realistic Dream.

Help OTHERS

Help other selflessly, just do it, if you can.

Trust me God will give you so much that you will have in plenty - almost everything, whatever you desire.

Above all the amount of good will you will receive from people in this world will help you sail through many of your difficulties...

Last not the least, No one in this world can do anything bad or Good for you, it is all destined to happen, hence share everything with others.

Don't waste Time

Never spend time on anything, where you are not gaining anything, since time is precious and valuable.

Time is one thing, which once lost, will never come back.

Never Run after Money

Money is the last thing you should run after. Run after a career and knowledge, money will follow.

It took me years to understand this, but at last I have been able to understand and apply to the fullest.

Break all the rules

Rules are made by people; people are imperfect, so how can rules be perfect? The best is to re-define the rules and make them your laws and People will follow it.
